FIRMER FACE

Face Yoga
10 Minutes a Day

Facial exercises and self-massage for a firmer face, less double chin and more glow.

WALL PILATES · 21-DAY CHALLENGE

A gym for your face

Your face has more than 40 muscles. Just like the ones in your body, they lose volume and firmness over the years, and the skin on top follows. Face yoga is a set of exercises that works those muscles, combined with self-massage, which boosts circulation and reduces puffiness.

In a Northwestern University study (USA, 2018), women aged 40 to 65 who did facial exercises for 20 weeks had fuller cheeks and a younger appearance as rated by dermatologists. The study was small, but the result is encouraging and the method is simple, cheap and safe.

How to do it

Do it in front of the mirror, with clean hands and a little moisturizer or oil on your face so your fingers glide. The best time is in the morning, to de-puff, or at night, along with your skincare routine.

Firm Face Routine (10 minutes)

Do them in order

1	Smooth forehead	5 reps
2	Firm gaze	5 reps
3	Cheekbone lift	5 reps
4	Air cheeks (smile lines)	1 minute
5	Kiss the ceiling (double chin)	8 reps
6	Tongue to the roof of your mouth	8 reps

Finish with the 3-minute self-massage (below).

The exercises, step by step

Smooth forehead

Forehead muscle (frontalis)

Position: Sitting in front of the mirror, index fingers just above your eyebrows.

1. Gently hold the skin of your forehead down with your fingers.
2. Try to raise your eyebrows against the resistance of your fingers.
3. Hold for 5 seconds and release slowly.

Breathing: Breathe through your nose throughout the exercise.

Avoid: Furrowing your forehead without your fingers holding it. Pressing the skin hard.

Safety: Do it with clean hands and without pulling your skin.

Firm gaze

Muscle around the eyes (orbicularis)

Position: Sitting, index fingers at the outer corners of your eyes and middle fingers at the inner corners.

1. Look up without moving your head.
2. Gently squeeze your lower eyelids, like squinting into the sun.
3. Hold for 5 seconds and relax.

Breathing: Breathe slowly through your nose.

Avoid: Closing your eyes completely. Wrinkling your forehead at the same time.

Safety: Remove contact lenses first.

Cheekbone lift

Zygomaticus Cheeks

Position: Sitting in front of the mirror.

1. Make an "O" with your mouth, covering your teeth with your lips.
2. Smile with the corners of your mouth, keeping the "O", and feel your cheeks lift.
3. Place your fingers lightly on your cheekbones and lift them a little more.
4. Hold for 5 seconds and relax.

Breathing: Breathe through your nose.

Avoid: Opening your mouth too wide. Furrowing your forehead.

Safety: Stop if you feel pain in your jaw joint.

Air cheeks (smile lines)

Cheeks | Muscles around the mouth

Position: Sitting, spine straight and lips closed.

1. Fill your mouth with air.
2. Slowly move the air from one cheek to the other.
3. Then move the air above your upper lip and hold for 3 seconds.

Breathing: Breathe through your nose while holding the air in your mouth.

Avoid: Tensing your neck.

Safety: Do it gently, without forcing.

Kiss the ceiling (double chin)

Neck muscle (platysma) | Muscles under the chin

Position: Sitting, spine straight and shoulders relaxed.

1. Tilt your head back, looking at the ceiling, without making your neck uncomfortable.
2. Pucker your lips, like blowing a kiss to the ceiling.
3. Hold for 5 seconds and bring your head back to center.

Breathing: Breathe through your nose.

Avoid: Throwing your head back hard. Lifting your shoulders.

Easier version: Only tilt your head back a little.

Safety: With neck problems or dizziness, do it looking straight ahead.

Tongue to the roof of your mouth

Muscles under the chin | Tongue

Position: Sitting, looking straight ahead, lips closed.

1. Press your whole tongue against the roof of your mouth, like a suction cup.
2. Push your tongue up, feeling the area under your chin firm up.
3. Hold for 5 seconds and release.

Breathing: Breathe through your nose.

Avoid: Clenching your teeth.

Safety: It's discreet: you can do it in traffic or at your computer.

De-puffing self-massage (3 minutes)

1. Neck: with flat fingers, glide from your ear down to your collarbone, 5 times per side. This "opens the path" for fluid to drain.

2. Jawline: with your knuckles, glide from your chin to your ear, following your jawline. 5 times.
3. Cheeks: glide from the side of your nose to your temple, 5 times.
4. Eyes: with your ring finger, very lightly, glide from the inner to the outer corner under your eye. 5 times.
5. Forehead: glide from the center of your forehead to your temples, alternating hands. 5 times.
6. Finish: glide from your temples down to your neck and collarbone, 3 times.

> Always from the inside out and from the bottom up
> And always gently: your face doesn't need force, it needs consistency.

4-week plan

Week	Routine	Focus
1	Full routine once a day	Learn the moves in front of the mirror
2	Full routine + self-massage every morning	De-puff your face when you wake up
3	Routine with 8 reps of each exercise	Firmer cheeks and jawline
4	Full routine + tongue to the roof of your mouth throughout the day	Double chin and neck

Habits that age you (and what to do)

Habit	Swap for
Going out without sunscreen	Sunscreen every day, even when cloudy and indoors near a window
Looking down at your phone	Phone at eye level (it's what marks your neck the most)
Sleeping face-down on your pillow	Sleeping on your back or side with a satin pillowcase
Too little water and sleep	About 8 cups of water and 7 to 8 hours of sleep
Smoking	Get help quitting: it's what ages skin the most

Progress photos

Take one photo from the front and one in profile on day 1, without makeup, in the same light (ideally near a window). Repeat on day 28. The changes are gradual and photos help you notice them.

> Don't do the exercises if you have a wound, inflammation or a recent cosmetic procedure on your face (Botox, fillers, peels). In those cases, ask your dermatologist when you can start.
